

Are you ready to decarbonise your operations?

Clearworld is here to help!

The AB Group, servicing major Grocery retail chains has created a new Division that is focused on decarbonising National Logistics operations and other business models with multiple sites across the UK.

The Clearworld team has already worked with many regional and national Warehousing and Distribution networks supplying both Grocery Retail and General Logistics services. These are often running 24/7 and the key elements of looking to reduce operating costs and carbon footprint across the service storage and logistics elements with minimal to zero change in operational activities is at the heart of the proposition.

☞ The long term future of Net Zero needs to combine all the elements of existing efficiency, asset upgrades, renewable energy technologies integration and adoption of innovative new ideas that can assist investments to make real sense for Logistics operations ROI/ROCE plans ☞

Clearworld Ltd is run by an experienced team that has delivered savings in excess of 40% on fixed assets on a regular basis and is also now engaged in transport fleet optimisation, modernisation and decarbonisation. The operations' MD Gary Scaife has a very clear view of the future in this enormously important space.

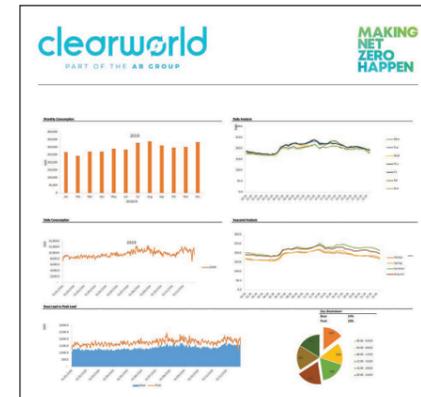

"How can we truly reach Net Zero when there is always an element of grid supply that is currently carbon based? The UK government has legislated that our economy will be Carbon Neutral by 2050 but how is that going to happen? There are so many schemes involving funding streams that create investments but the market is confused - we have seen policy changes regarding FITs and RHIs that have left many great solutions without a significant commercial potential due to lack of government support. We need a cohesive policy with long term goals to support the integration of efficiency projects coupled to financial support for renewable energy platforms that are fit for purpose to address ALL forms of business Net Zero challenges, including transport"

Clearworld specify and install tailored sustainability solutions throughout the supply chain, following a proven four-step process.

1. Data Analysis

Data analysis is at the heart of all good Environmental & Carbon Reduction projects. At Clearworld we use fiscal metering data to ensure all savings can be directly linked to the energy billing platform - if you can't see the savings, why would you invest?

2. Solution Development & Proposal

We recognise every business is different - using our experience the Clearworld team creates solutions that can be scaled across multiple sites and deliver the maximum benefits for both financial and environmental outcomes.

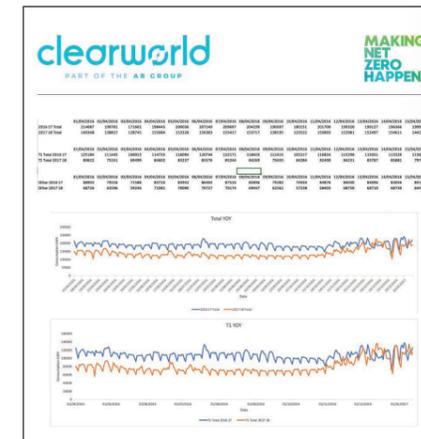

3. Proof of Concept/ delivery of major projects

Our project management team has delivered national solutions for organisations with over 1000 sites. The Clearworld expertise in co-ordinating the complex challenges of national roll outs means you can be sure of on time delivery and guaranteed Carbon savings across your estate.

4. Business justification linked to ROI/ROCE

When a large organisation embarks on a significant investment on the Net Zero journey you need to be confident in the long-term financial outcomes. Clearworld has expertise in building and delivering sustainable ROI/ROCE solutions for national operations.

Warehousing/ Wholesale Distribution Centres

The adjacent data shows a substantial 25% reduction in electricity usage across 2 different sites.

These sites alone added up to a saving of 100 tonnes of CO₂ which is equivalent to driving the average passenger vehicle 248,139 miles
